

how to get to the Reggio Children office

The Reggio Children office is located at the Loris Malaguzzi International Center, in Via Bligny 1/a, in the northern part of Reggio Emilia, near the train station in the outer Santa Croce district. The building is part of a former industrial complex built at the beginning of the 20th century, which housed an agro-food company called Locatelli for more than half a century.

by train

From the Reggio Emilia train station, you take the pedestrian-bicycle underpass to Piazzale Europa which ends right next to the Loris Malaguzzi International Center (5 minutes on foot).

by car

From the motorway, take the Reggio Emilia exit. Take the first exit on the right, following the signs for the “tangenziale”; at the first roundabout, take the second exit and go ahead along the direction “Modena”. Take the “Correggio – Aeroporto” (Airport) exit: from there on you will see the signs indicating

At the roundabout, take the first exit into Via del Chionso, then turn left into via Saragat. At the end of the street turn left into Via Adua, at the end of via Adua turn to the right. You will reach another roundabout where you have to turn right into Via Agosti. Go to the end of Via Agosti, park your car in the parking in front of the Loris Malaguzzi International Centre (Piazzale Europa). The entrance to Reggio Children is at the corner of Via Bligny and Viale Ramazzini.
